

Bertrand Video Script for CMC Materials Employees

Hello CMC Materials team! I'm Bertrand Loy, CEO of Entegris. It is an honor to speak with you all today.

By now, I am sure you have heard the exciting news regarding the combination of our two companies. This is an important step forward for us, and I wanted to take a few minutes to introduce myself as well as share my thoughts for the future.

For over 50 years, Entegris has been dedicated to providing a broad range of process solutions for customers and help them improve the performance of their products as well as their manufacturing yields. We have an unwavering commitment to innovation and to serving our customers.

And it is clear that CMC Materials shares the very same values, and I've long been impressed by your excellent reputation in the industry for quality and on-time delivery, among many other things.

The discussions I've recently had with the CMC Materials management team have only served to reaffirm my longstanding respect for all of you and my confidence in our ability to join together to advance our position as a global leader of electronic materials. We look forward to working as one to tackle new challenges, bringing together our focus on innovation, operational excellence and deep customer engagement.

By combining our highly complementary portfolios, we will create the industry's most respected and most comprehensive electronic materials platform. In addition, we will be positioned to enhance our customer relationships and shorten our time-to-solution. In short, together our future will be bright – with many compelling opportunities ahead to unlock significant growth through enhanced innovation, scale and execution.

So, what comes next?

Well, this announcement is just the very first step in our combination and we expect the transaction to close in the second half of 2022, following customary regulatory reviews and approvals. Until that time, needless to say, Entegris and CMC Materials will continue to operate as two separate companies.

Looking ahead, bringing our two companies together will require a thoughtful integration plan, a process our company has executed successfully many times in the past. And to help facilitate this effort, we will create an integration planning team, which will include representatives of both companies.

So, as we move forward, we'll share more information on this process, and as always, we are committed to being open and transparent throughout this upcoming integration process.

In the coming weeks I look forward to meeting many of you during virtual site visits, and I cannot wait to meet even more of you in person as circumstances allow!

Thank you all, and I hope you share my excitement for the journey ahead! Thank you.
