Project Mountain Entegris CEO Video to Vail Employees

Hi. I'm Bertrand Loy, President and CEO of Entegris and I am honored to speak with you today. On behalf of all my friends and colleagues at Entegris, I want to share our enthusiasm about combining our two great companies. This is truly a merger of equals in the best ways.

I have long admired Versum Materials. The entire team and the quality of your work is very impressive. I can't wait for us to be on the same team. The process of bringing our two great companies together has only enhanced my respect for Versum.

Let me tell you more about this combination and why we are excited about it.

Like Versum Materials, Entegris is a leader in the semiconductor industry that specializes in providing specialty chemicals and advanced materials solutions. Both our organizations share a customer-centric culture and together, we will be ideally positioned to more effectively help our customers achieve higher yields and new levels of device performance and reliability.

It is important to highlight that Entegris and Versum have highly complementary portfolios. The new company is expected to have a full suite of diverse product offerings including Advanced Materials, Specialty Gases, Micro Contamination Control, Advanced Materials Handling, and Delivery Systems and Services. All of this is great news for our respective teams. This is a merger predicated on growth, not cost cuts, and we can't wait to grow together.

With these compelling attributes and complementary portfolios, we will be able to better address and capitalize on customers' evolving needs for new materials and higher purity requirements as device architectures become more complex.

While we are excited about this announcement, please remember that this is very early days. It will be several months until the transaction is completed, which we expect to occur in the second half of 2019. Until that time, Entegris and Versum will continue to operate as separate entities.

As we begin the process of bringing together our two companies, we will build an integration team with members from both Entegris and Versum to ensure a seamless transition. They will work together to maximize the great assets and talent of both companies.

Since our two businesses are highly complementary, we expect little impact for the vast majority of employees. In fact, as part of a larger company, we ultimately expect that employees will benefit from greater career and professional development opportunities.

I want to repeat how excited we are about this combination and the benefits it will bring. It is a true privilege to serve as CEO of the combined company and I very much look forward to embarking on this journey together.

Thank you again for your time today.
