

Entegris Chief Financial Officer Greg Graves Plans to Retire

January 23, 2023

Company Initiates Search for Successor

BILLERICA, Mass.--(BUSINESS WIRE)--Jan. 23, 2023-- Entegris, Inc. (Nasdaq: ENTG), a leading supplier of advanced materials and process solutions for the semiconductor and other high-technology industries, today announced that Greg Graves, executive vice president and chief financial officer, plans to retire in 2023.

The company has initiated a search to identify its next CFO with the assistance of a leading executive search firm and will consider both internal and external candidates. Graves will continue to serve as CFO until his successor is appointed and is expected to remain with the company through a transition period.

"Through his strategic insights, financial discipline, and commitment to excellence, Greg has played a critical role at Entegris for the last two decades," said Bertrand Loy, president and chief executive officer of Entegris. "Over the past 17 years as CFO, Greg has built and solidified our global finance and IT organizations, overseen the successful completion of many strategic acquisitions and integrations; with a shared focus on creating value for all stakeholders. On a personal note, Greg has been a great partner for me in helping Entegris grow from a $700 million company in 2012 when I began as CEO, into the $4 billion global leader we are today. On behalf of the board and management team, I wish Greg all the best in his retirement."

"It has been a privilege to lead the finance and IT organizations and to work alongside Bertrand and the entire team. The culture Bertrand has shaped at Entegris is second to none," said Graves. "Entegris is well positioned to continue to lead the industry and drive significant shareholder value. I look forward to partnering with our team to achieve a smooth transition and watching the company's continued success in the years ahead."
